U. S. BUSINESS IS OPENING UP OVER THE OCEAN

LONDON, Aug. 4.-Kingsway, Lon don!

This, in the opinion of an expert, is the address which is attracting so many leading American firms to what will undoubtedly be one of the finest business thoroughfares of the world. business thoroughteres of the world,
Already there are many American firms in occupation; others are only awaiting the completion of premises
which will be the last word in architecture designed for business effi-clency.

It is a curious fact that one part of this famous causeway lies in the city of Westminster, the other in the borough of Heiborn.

Except for the small Kingsway Mission Hall the Kingsway practically holds the freehold of this important center of commercial life which, despite the absence of skyscrapers, represents a colossal amount of floor space.

spite the absence of skyscrapers, represents a colossal amoust of floor space.

Twenty years ago there were narrow streets which comprised a none too reputable neighborhood through which one made a tour of adventure to discover the old curiosity shop, or lingered in Holywell street, the street for second-hand booksellers.

Now the booksellers have all migrated to Charing Crossroad, and during the years of war the great site was a fitting subject for Joseph Pennell, with its gigantic cranes and high cutlines of openwork steel lacery silhoucted against the sky.

At present there are but two or three vacant sites where building or foundation work has barely started. Crown House, at the corner of Drury lane, opposite the Adwych theater, will be an imposing building occupied by the British Thompson-Houston Co. in the next block the "Shell" Marketing company, Ltd., will have their premises.

Victory House, one of the most beautiful of the newer buildings, is eventually destined to be inhabited by the office of works, although the Shell Motor Spirit firm may find a temporary habitation there until their own premises are complete.

This is, of course, of tremendous in-terest to commercial and industrial firms of all countries, since it place-within reach of all types of buyers and sellers at any season of the year the fusiness possibilities of getting into touch with each other.

KAISER'S PALACE

BERLIN. Aug. 4.—Four thousand discontented Berlin tenants demanded with loud cheers in a mass meeting before Kalser Wilhelm's Unter den Linden palace that the 800 rooms in the immense palace be used for housing homeless Berlin families.

The mass meeting was called by per-immense palace he used for housing homeless Berlin families.

The mass meeting was called by percons embittered by their failure to secure quarters through the official housing commissions. Spectators quickly swelled the crowd until it completely filled the space called "Schlossplatz," between the palace and the Kaiser's stables, Seicherheitswehr, the green-clad security police used for riot duty, remained quietly at the edge of the crowd when they learned that it was only an overflow meeting of a mieter-rat or "renter's council."

Sporters found rostrums on pillars and the pedestals of statuary. "We demand that the 800 rooms of Schloss Freiheit be put at the disposal of the housing commission," shouted one of the renter orators, holding his speech in one hand and hanging to a piece of statuary with the other.

"We demand that the empty barracks which formerly housed mere than 24 regiments in Eerlin be converted into dwellings until the housing privation has passed." The crowd adopted the resolutions with lusty cheers and then quietly dispersed. Those who had waited in the hope of seeing the ambittious temants take possession of their palace left badly disappointed.

THAT WAY OVER HERE THEY'RE BROKE, THOUGH WORTH HALF MILLION

PARIS, Aug. 4.—recently the landlord with due apologies informed Capt.
F. W. Fifield, of Platisburg. N. Y.
American Red Cross worker, that his rent was raised for the fourth time since 1918.

Upon receiving the information Capt.
Fifield chuckled; all of which is an unusual thing for a man to do under the circumstances, but the fact was that in spite of the fourth raise the American was spending less for rent
than before the first boost came along two years ago.

The unusual condition is one of the results of the vagaries of exchange between French and American money. In 1918 Capt. Fifield contracted for the room at four francs a day. At that time he was receiving five francs and forty-five centimes for every dollar in salary. His rent, therefore, was something like 72 cents per day.

Every season a new raise came along until the landlord set what he believed to be the exchinge of May 1, 17 francs for every dollar, and is new rent reaches the total of 47 cents instead of 72, although it has been nearly doubled.

WORTH HALF MILLION

BELGRADE, Serbia, Aug. 4.—Baron
Paul Orloff and his mother, the Baroness Orloff, are in Belgrade, destitute, even though they possess a jewel worth
haif a million dollars.

It's the old story of the starving man with a $10,000 bill that nobody wanted to change. The Orloff's have among other jewels the famous Orloff emrerald. On the present jewel market it is worth conservatively half a million dollars. It is bigger than a fat English wainut, and yet nobody in in Serb dinars. It would take more than 180,000,000 of them to equal the half million in American money.

Meanwhile the baroness is doing housework to make onough money to support hereelf. Her son, a youngster wearing his uniform of a Russian officer, was hired at a nominal salary as an interpreter.

Orloff is now in Pirot helping detouse his fellow countrymen as they surely in this town near the Serb frontier.

BRITISHER FINDS HICOST IS FIRST

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The high cost of ving in the United States, the mania or automobiles, the high price of la-or, the whiripool of juggled millions f dollars in all activities of life, and bor, the whiripool of juggled millions of dollars in all activities of life, and prohibition are discussed to the extent of nine columns in the London Times. "American number."

But the London Times correspondent found that the H. C. L. took precedence over even the presidential election. His conclusions were:

"But one may be distressed, as Americans are distressed, at the extreme distraction and confusion of thought and aim and the—as it seems—truly terrible extravagance and costliness of life which cannot, one fears, continue without catastrophe, but for which no remedy yet appears in sight. For the first of these two things it is probable that the presidential election, though for the moment only adding to the chaos, may prove medicinal, by compelling the people to divide more or less into two equal camps and to focus their attention on some few cardinal questions. For the latter one can only trust to American genius. Measured by all precedent the present scale of living would seem to be, for any length of time, simply intolerable. How it can be altered without a heavy scaling on the extrangency of later it is not easy to see; nor how that scaling can be attained without such a previous industrial crisis as will cause widespread unemployment.

"But precedents have a way of governing little in America, It may be

"But precedents have a way of gov-rning little in America. It may be hat the people will somehow not only olerate the intolerable, but will turn it to such account that society will to such account that society will tile down to hitherto unheard of con it to such account that society will settle down to hitherto unheard of conditions as peacefury as and with greater comfort to the masses than ever before. The economic progress of the United States has, in any onse, always been paroxysmal, periods of intense growth alternating with panies and fits of abysmal depression. After each sethack, however severe, the country never has failed to go on more triumphantly than ever. There are new and disturbing factors in the problem today, it is true. The United States cannot solve its own difficulties in a vacuum. And the immense proportion of undigeated, or partially diggeded, elements of foreign populations seem to expose the country peculiarly to infection by the disease of unrest which is working in all the world. Nothing in American life however, has been more remarkable in the past than the completeness with which the old Anglo-Saxon core of the nation has succeeded in imposing its character on and dominating the whoic people. It is natural that an Englishman should see in its continued dominance the best assurance of the safety of the country; and there is certainly nothing yet to show that the core has lost anything of its vigor or is likely to be any less able than heretofore to hold the people steady.

"No; the United States is very worried about itself at the moment: and it may well be, for its pulse is alarmingly fast. But the mere fact that it is alarmed, and therefore on the alert, is much; and no one who knows the people will have any doubt that what is much; and no one who knows the people will have any doubt that, whatever the immediate complications may be, the nation will come through more aboundingly vital than ever."

ONE-PIECE STUFF O. K. AT ASBURY PARK BEACH

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 4.—Asbury Park beaches are becoming popular. Notwithstanding the complaints of the modest, who have been shocked by the one-piece hathing suits worn by women, the chief of police of Asbury Park, who is young and married, favors them.

"I'll tell you how it is," he volunt teered. "In the first place, discard, disregard and can this stuff about the one-piece bathing suit. It isn't.

"In a lot of places they have rules that women can wear this, can't wear that, in the main, those rules are arbitrary. Now, here we put it on the hasis of common sense.

"Now, as for stockings, a woman feels more comfortable without them. Therefore we don't interfere. Where it's a question of comfort and no decency violated, the bather gets the benefit of the dount."

Hunt's Salve Cures It!

Bred in the war trenches of Europe, a wave of ordinary ITCH is spreading over the country. This skin disease, history shows, has always nevealled, following that conflict. There was an epidemic of the Itch after the Seanish-American War. Now history is repeating itself and contact will find a recognized remedy for the Itch in Hunt's Salve, commonly known as "Hunt's Itch cure." Many a veteran of the late 90's, will testify to its merits.

If directions are followed HUNT'S SALVE will prove a never fulling cure for all forms of the Itch cure. Many a veteran of the late 90's, will testify to its merits.
